CHILD SUFFERED WITH SKIN TROUBLE

Looked Awful. Rough and Red. Skin Would Break and Itch. Very Painful. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Healed.

31 Unit St., Providence, R. I.—"My child's face looked awful. It was all scurfy, rough and red and you could peel it off. The skin would break and it would cry with it, it was so painful. She suffered like that for about two months and it would itch so that she would scratch and sob it off. I tried different things until one day my husband said, 'Why don't you try Cuticura Soap and Ointment?' That same day I wrote for a sample and then my husband bought some more Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I put the Cuticura Ointment on her face, let it for a half hour and then washed it with Cuticura Soap. That night she rested fine and the next day was looking much better. I kept it up and within three or four weeks they were completely healed. 'Every time I combed my hair it would come out in handfuls. I rubbed the Cuticura Ointment into the scalp night and morning for three weeks and used the Cuticura Soap in shampooing. Now I can comb my hair all the time and I will not have a single hair on the comb.' (Signed) Mrs. Emma Arthur Collins, Jan. 28, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail
Although Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world, a sample of each with 32-p. Skin Book will be sent free upon request. Address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES IN CONNECTICUT'S COMING ELECTION

Brief biographical sketches of the candidates who have been nominated by the republicans for the election on November 3 follow:

Frank Bosworth Brandegee.
Frank Bosworth Brandegee, of New London, the Republican party's unanimous nominee for United States Senator, is recognized throughout the entire country as one of the strongest men in the Senate today. He has served in that body since May 9, 1895, having been re-elected on January 20, 1898. His nine years of service has been so able in the interests of Connecticut and in the interest of the whole country that his influence today is greatly to the benefit of this state. Prior to being elected United States Senator he served three terms as a member of Congress following experience in the House of Representatives at Hartford, one term as Speaker of the House.

Senator Brandegee is in the prime of life being fifty years old, a big upstanding man of health and vigor. He was born in New London July 8, 1844, educated in the schools of his native city and was graduated from Yale College in the class of 1868. Three years later he was admitted to the Connecticut bar and at once took rank as an able and conscientious and fearless lawyer. His ability and the respect of all who came to know of and about him led the community where he lived to send him to the state legislature and from there to the higher honor and the weightier duties above enumerated.

In Congress, both in the House of Representatives and in the Senate, Mr. Brandegee has worked, argued, and voted for the advancement of Connecticut's business interests and Connecticut's wage earners. His earnest advocacy of the rights of men to do business with a fair chance to make an honest profit, and his insistence on a safe and sane governmental policy that will give back to American workingmen prosperity because of protection to industries make him the man of the day to elect to the United States Senate.

Marcus Hensley Holcomb.
Marcus Hensley Holcomb, nominee for Governor, is a native son of the Superior Court of the state. As such he has the respect of every lawyer in Connecticut. He has the high regard of all who have served on juries under him and of those who have been parties to suits over the hearing of which he has presided.

Judge Holcomb was born on a farm in New Hartford, Litchfield County, Connecticut, on November 28th, 1844, the son of Charles Holcomb and Adah Bushnell Holcomb. His father was a farmer.

Judge Holcomb attended public and private schools, studied law with Judge Jared P. Foster of New Hartford, and was admitted to the bar at Litchfield, Connecticut, in 1871. In 1872 he went to Southington and commenced to practice law and he has remained there ever since. For thirty years he was judge of probate for the district of Southington and judge of the town court of Southington. He has been treasurer of Hartford County and in 1893 he was senator from the second district. In 1902 he was a member of the Constitutional Convention and in 1905 he was Speaker of the House. In 1906 he was elected Attorney-General of Connecticut by 21,000 plurality.

He has been president of the Southington Savings Bank, a director in the Southington National Bank, in the Fock, Stow & Wilcox Company, the New Britain Lumber Company, the Aetna Nut Company and the Atwater Manufacturing Company, and the receiver of the Co-operative Savings Society.

In religious views he is a Baptist. He has many fraternal ties, being a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of the Order of the Sons of the Knights of Pythias, of the Order of the Elks, the Order of Red Men, the O. U. A. M., and the Foresters.

Judge Holcomb states very conclusively and forcibly the practical advice he gives to others when he says that the three essentials of success are "honesty, industry and ability."

Clifford B. Wilson.
Clifford B. Wilson, Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor, is at present Mayor of the city of Bridgeport, and is well known throughout the state as a leader in good government. He was born in Bridgeport, December 2, 1875, graduating from the High School in 1893, studied law and was admitted to practice last in 1903. In 1907 it was "Alderman" Wilson by the suffrage of the voters and in 1908 the young lawyer became President of the Aldermen Board and acting Mayor. The following year he was made Mayor of Bridgeport. The people of Bridgeport liked his record and in November, 1913, he was elected Mayor of the city of Bridgeport by 280 plurality, and in November, 1913, put their further approval on him by re-electing him Mayor by 2142 plurality.

Mayor Wilson is unmarried, of genial and whole souled temperament, earnest and strong in his financial affairs. Wilson is a thirty-second degree Mason, a member of the Odd Fellows, Elks, Sons of Veterans, and Schwaebischer-Maschener.

Charles D. Burnes.
Charles D. Burnes, of Greenwich, nominee for Secretary of State, is a prominent lawyer of Fairfield County. He was born in Berlin, Conn., August 4, 1871. He attended Wesleyan University two years in the class of 1892, was graduated from the Yale Law School in 1894, and in 1895 was admitted to the bar the same year and immediately began to practice at South Norwalk. Mr. Burnes went to Greenwich in 1894 and was elected town deputy registrar of voters and later clerk of the borough court, and in 1897 was elected Judge of the Borough Court. From Hartford he went to Milwaukee, thence to New York, then engaged for himself in business at Terryville, and in 1878 accepted the position of Secretary and Superintendent of the Mallicoite Iron Works in New Britain. In New Britain Mr. Webster began his political career. He served three years in the Common Council, is serving his twelfth upon the School Board, was Representative in the Legislature of 1897, and has served two years as Mayor of New Britain. In 1901, in 1902, he was elected Secretary of the House of Representatives, and held clerkships up to and including 1911. In 1902 he was elected Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee. His legislative experience, including the important and responsible office of clerk of bills, involving the drafting or revision of all laws passed by the general assembly at those sessions, and his service in the constitutional convention, have afforded him an intimate knowledge of the constitution and statute law of the state, of legislative procedure and the state officers and departments which, with his legal training and ability, render him especially fitted for the duties of the office of attorney general.

He has been president of the Williamstown Board of Trade and for several years a director and chairman of the membership committee of the T. M. C. A. Association in 1904 and was a member of several secret societies in New Britain.

Enlisting in the Spanish war he served as regimental sergeant major and later was major and judge advocate on the staff of Brigadier-General Frost. He is a past master of the Masons, past exalted ruler of the Elks and past commander of the Spanish War Veterans. He is unmarried. He is alive to the interests of his district and has the qualifications for an excellent representative.

Richard P. Freeman.
Richard P. Freeman, the candidate for congressman in the second district was born in New London in 1869 and has always resided there. He was educated in the public schools of that city, graduating from Bulkeley High school after which he entered Harvard from which he graduated cum laude in the class of 1891. He completed his law training in Yale Law school, graduating in 1894 and was admitted to the practice of law the same year. He served three terms as prosecuting attorney of the New London city court.

Enlisting in the Spanish war he served as regimental sergeant major and later was major and judge advocate on the staff of Brigadier-General Frost. He is a past master of the Masons, past exalted ruler of the Elks and past commander of the Spanish War Veterans. He is unmarried. REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

Chairman of the Committee on Railroads, and Chairman of the Judiciary Committee in 1909.

Judge Burnes is a member of the Congressional Club.

Frederick Stanley Chamberlain.
Frederick Stanley Chamberlain, of New Britain, Connecticut, was born on that city August 19th, 1872, and is the son of the late Judge Valentine B. Chamberlain and Anna L. (Amich) Chamberlain. He is a nephew of the late, former Governor, Abram Chamberlain of Meriden. His father was State Treasurer in 1883-4. He received his education in the local public schools, leaving the High School at the age of sixteen to take a position as office boy in the Mechanics National Bank. He remained in that position for eighteen years, or until 1907, when he was elected cashier and director of the New Britain Lumber Company, the strongest financial institution in New Britain, and still occupies these offices. He was elected city treasurer in 1903, having been re-elected at the end of each term since that time—the last two elections having been the nominee of both parties. He has been president of the Board of Finance and Taxation since its inception, and on that board he has been particularly interested in building up the city's sinking fund and he served in the legislature in 1909 and was House Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations there gaining an extensive knowledge of the state's financial affairs. Mr. Chamberlain is a director of the Stanley Works, one of New Britain's largest manufacturing concerns.

Mr. Chamberlain is a member of the First Congregational Church.

Morris Catlin Webster.
Morris Catlin Webster of Hartford, who was Speaker of the House of Representatives in 1913, is the Republican nominee for Comptroller. Born in Hartford, September 28, 1848, Mr. Webster's lifelong interest in the state's public interests is natural for he is a lineal descendant of John Webster, who was one of Connecticut's Colonial Governors, serving two terms, 1816-17, 1820-21. His father, John Webster, was a graduate of the University of Hartford where he remained until his graduation in 1838, from the Great Barrington high school, when he entered newspaper work. Coming to
